

ACADEMIC SCHOLARSHIPS

Each year when we award Phi Mu Foundation scholarships, we're flooded with letters from recipients that remind us of the critical role these scholarships play in women receiving their education. Whether it's to help an undergraduate woman cut back on her hours at work this semester or to help a medical student reduce the amount of loans she'll have to take out that semester, Phi Mu Foundation scholarships are helping women reach their highest potential.

The Foundation awarded 99 Phi Mu women with $162,750 in academic scholarships in 2021-22 to pursue their undergraduate and graduate-level education.

“As an aspiring pediatric cardiologist, I know that I have a long road of debt ahead of me. Receiving this scholarship has allowed me to focus on saving money for medical school, instead of earning money to pay for my tuition at Georgetown College.

This Phi Mu Foundation scholarship will truly help turn my dreams into a reality. As I apply for medical school this summer, I feel even more motivated to pursue my dreams knowing that I am supported by so many people, especially those in Phi Mu.”
